Corps plan tackles Bayou Caddy fuel, wharfage, loading, navigational needs

by JAKE JACOB
The US Army Corps of Engineers has delivered draft copies of the Detailed Project Report for its intended Bayou Caddy (Cadet Bayou) channel widening and anchorage provision to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

A public hearing on the proposal is scheduled for 7 p.m., Thursday, May 18, in the Coast Electric Power Association Auditorium on Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Total cost of the project is estimated by the Corps at $450,000 with almost half, $202,500, to come from local sources.

The local share will consist of funds or services to provide 4400 feet of diking, land acquisition - estimated at 18 acres at $7000 per acre, or $126,000, and construction of an access road to the proposed new docking area, 3600 feet at $12.83 per foot for a total of $46,200.

Federal expenditures would be limited to 5000 cubic yards of dozer excavations, 126,700 cubic yards of dredging, the provision and driving of

Lawrence Semski asks reelection to Family Court

Family Court Judge Lawrence Semski formally announced for reelection today. Mature and experienced enough to know that there are no easy answers to difficult problems, Judge Semski runs on a platform of maturity, experience, proven leadership, and knowledge of the law, youth and resources available.

A practicing attorney for 24 years, he served as city attorney for 10 years. In his seven years at the Family Court, Judge Semski has presided over one of Mississippi's most active benches.

While administering a court system that handled approximately 4,000 referrals last year, he personally presided over 1628 hearings.

In his term of office he has provided the leadership in establishing: (1) a restitution program based on the law; (2) a Continuing Learning Center for drop-outs, now operated by the Gulfport Schools; (3) a summer camp for boys, a cooperative effort between the civilian and military community; (4) the Youth Achievement Home, a group home project, one of the newest concepts in the field of delinquency; (5) a diagnostic program for children and (SEMSKI-PAGE 4)

Koch is outstanding freshman, 18 Bay - area students honored

At USM Awards Day

The University of Southern Mississippi's Outstanding Freshman Woman for 1978 is a student journalist and campus scholar from Bay St. Louis.

She is Kathie Koch, journalism major, honors student, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Koch, 956 Beach Blvd.

The award, presented at USM Awards Day, Tuesday, is based on scholarship and leadership ability. Deans and presidents of campus organizations submitted nominations to a faculty committee which made the final selection.

Koch is one of 44 University Scholars in the USM Honors College and a member of the Honors Student Association. She was also tapped by Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary society and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Society of Professional Journalists.

She is an assistant news editor and copy editor on The Student Printz, the campus newspaper and was selected to serve on Mademoiselle magazine's College Board, which keeps the magazine up-to-date on campus trends. She is a 1977 Bay High graduate.

This summer, she will work as an intern at a Biloxi newspaper.

Several other students from Bay-Waveland area were among those honored at the Tuesday event on the Hattiesburg campus.

Those from BAY ST. LOUIS - Mike St. John Battalora, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Battalora, named Beta Beta Beta Outstanding Freshman Biology Male Student, and Paul David Scianna, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Scianna Sr., inducted into Omicron Delta Kappa.

Also, Julie Ann Martinolich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Martinolich, inducted into Phi Eta Sigma, Scott Alexander Evans, son of James A. Evans Jr., tapped for Alpha Lambda Delta, and Bryan E. Acker, son of Mrs. Louis Acker, inducted into Omicron Delta Kappa.

From WAVELAND, the university cited William Black Cannon, son of Mrs. Gladys Cannon, who was tapped for Alpha Lambda Delta.

Kiwanis favor US-90 light changes

by JAKE JACOB

The Bay-Waveland Kiwanis Club is calling on the Mississippi Highway Department to install an alternate crossing marking system at both Waveland Avenue and US-90, and the Nicholson Ave. - Highway 603 - US-90, intersections.

Chairman of the project is Ernest L. Mitchell who said this week he intends to originate petitions calling for two principal accident-reducing measures.

One is for the alternate traffic light system, and the other is for assistance in obtaining an additional patrol car for the City of Waveland to cover that area of US-90, stretching from Nicholson to Waveland Ave.

"The car is to be primarily employed in traffic control duties along this obviously dangerous stretch of highway and its two, major intersections," Mitchell allowed.

The project chairman decried statistics forwarded to Dan Hillman, district maintenance engineer (VI), in a memorandum written by Robert W. Mosely, traffic control and safety, with information copies to D.L. Anderson, interim director (at time memorandum was written March 6, 1977), and the Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

The Mosely memorandum after making reference to a plea from the Hancock County Grand Jury for installation of left turn indicators at these locations as being an apparent non-valid request due to a seeming statistical insufficiency of vehicles risking the turn on the existing signal systems, states:

"An accident study of these locations, over the past one and a half years revealed that only one reported, left turning accident has occurred at the intersection of US-90 and Waveland Avenue, and three reported left turning accidents at the intersection of US-90 and Miss 43. One of these accidents was caused by a DWI motorist and the other three were apparently caused by inattention. There is excellent sight

Speed crackdown continues in Bay

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams stated Friday his "get tough" policy on speeders in the city limits will be continued.

"I have instructed my department to enforce the 25 miles per hour speed limit." In some areas, where posted, it is 35 miles per hour, but only 10 miles per hour in playground zones.

"The mayor's office and my office have been receiving numerous complaints about speeders on just about every street in town. I have instructed my men to use radar on all shifts and on different streets.

"Speeding is not the only thing we are cracking down on, anyone caught loitering, or drinking on street corners, sidewalks, or in vehicles, will be picked up and taken to jail.

"There have been some curfew violations. An 11 p.m. curfew for minors under 18 is being strictly enforced," commented Chief Williams.

County bridges, coast beaches take pounding in record deluge

by ELLIS CUEVAS and EDGAR PEREZ

The full force of Hancock County's manpower and road maintenance equipment was pressed into service at week's end to restore roads and beaches devastated by Wednesday's record-breaking rainfall.

Additional weather-related injuries were reported with three persons hurt in a two-car crash on NASA-NSTL Road A and a Waveland resident narrowly escaping serious harm from a lightning strike at her home.

NASA officials identified those injured in the auto accident as Betty Boynton and Richard Rodueggem, both of Pearl River County, and Franz Fredrich of Gulfport.

The trio was treated at Crosby Memorial Hospital in Piquette and released, officials said.

Robert Wyatt of Lakeside Drive in Waveland said his daughter Sherry was "knocked flat" while holding the telephone when lightning struck their home Wednesday morning.

Wyatt said his amateur radio equipment was destroyed by the blast, as well as stereo equipment and other appliances.

His radio antenna was knocked down, and a neighbor's television antenna and television set were also damaged when the lightning struck.

Sherry Wyatt apparently was not seriously hurt, her father reported.

Supervisor James Travirca of

Hancock County Beat Five said two bridges in his district were knocked out by the heavy water runoff resulting from an estimated ten inches of rain which fell in the county Wednesday.

Temporary repairs were made late Wednesday to the bridges, one on Moran Road and the other in Springwood Park near Firetower Road, the supervisor said.

Final repairs were completed by 10 a.m. Thursday, according to Travirca. Grading on many dirt road washouts in his district was delayed until late Thursday when the roads began to dry somewhat, Travirca said.

Sam Pernicaro, Beat Four supervisor, was on the Waveland beaches early Thursday morning supervising his crews and equipment as they worked to restore Beach Boulevard and the beaches to normal condition.

Pernicaro said he expected the beaches to be in usable condition for weekend use.

Standing water in washed out areas along Beach Boulevard revealed leaks in the Waveland natural gas system as the gas bubbled up through the water before graders filled in the low spots.

Supervisor Alton A. (Dolph) Kellar of Beat Two estimated loss of the Simon Bounds Road bridge across White Cypress Creek at between $40,000 and $50,000.

The 150-foot bridge was completely destroyed by the swollen creek, Kellar

Road patrol authorized if supervisors willing to pay

by EDGAR PEREZ

Additional protection for Hancock County roads and bridges from abuse by over-loaded, fast-moving trucks servicing the oil and gas drilling industry and DuPont plant construction may be forthcoming from supervisor-sponsored patrol units.

State Representative J. P. Compretta told the Hancock Board of Supervisors at its May meeting last week there are no restrictive provisions in state law against establishment of a county patrol here.

Compretta noted he and State Senator Martin Smith stand ready to cooperate in any way possible with the supervisors in establishing a patrol.

In a report to the supervisors prompted by Smith, William A. Neely Jr., of the Senate's Legislative Services Office in Jackson said, however, "In the absence of local and private legislation for Hancock County, compensation for county patrol officers would probably have to come from the county general fund."

Neely said a patrol in Hinds County is supported by supervisors there "from a special fund financed by a tax levy authorized by special and private legislation."

The legislative officer pointed out a county patrol is limited to three officers who may receive an aggregate compensation not to exceed $500 per month and in no case shall any one patrol officer receive in excess of $200 per month.

"There is no provision in the Code for deputization of patrol officers and really there is no need for deputization since their only statutory duty is to patrol county roads for traffic violations," Neely noted.

"Patrol officers are employed by the board of supervisors and not the sheriff's department," he added.

Case law seems to limit the county patrol officers' power to enforce general criminal laws, only to cases which arise out of their duty to patrol county roads and enforce the road and motor vehicle laws," Neely continued.

"He emphasized patrol officers may not enforce traffic laws on any arteries of the state highway system unless specifically authorized by the State Commissioner of Public Safety."

The patrol may wear uniforms, Neely said, but "they may not wear uniforms that are similar to State Highway Patrol uniforms."

He advised the supervisors they are authorized under the law to provide a means of transportation for patrol officers, as well as radio equipment.

Neely's report to the board noted Hancock falls under general provisions of the authorizing statute, whereas there are other counties falling under special provisions of the law, such as Hinds where a patrol officer may be paid as much as $850 per month.

Neely said it is his opinion after researching the law that Hancock can establish a patrol simply by entering a proper resolution in its minutes.

Hancock Library

Friends amend name, membership tops 90

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Friends of the Library in Hancock County met Thursday and presented life memberships to James G. Byington of Diamondhead, and Norton Haas, Sr. and J.D. (Big John) Rutherford of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Judy McCormick, president, recognized Mrs. Evelyn Griffin, Mrs. Linda Haas, and Mrs. Francis McDonald, as being long standing Friends during the critical times of the library, presented them with honorary life memberships.

John Miller of Sheers Delight Hair Styling and Theresa Shiyon of Diani's Hair Styling were co-honored as commercial Friends of the Year.

Mrs. McCormick presented a special award to Lynn Nybo as Individual Friend of the Library for the year. Mrs. Nybo is membership chairman for the Friends of the Library.

The president stated memberships now stand at a record-high of over 90. A special bicycle safety week will be recognized the first week of June, with Mrs. Grace Rhodes as chairman. Bill Goodwin, Youth Advisor, County Extension Service, will give slide presentations and Bay Chief Douglas Williams and Waveland Chief Donald Dorn will render bicycle safety talks in the Bay and Waveland Libraries.

Mrs. Pat Oakes, chairman of this year's library annual reading program, June 1 through July 14, outlined this summer's activities.

John Miller and Theresa Shiyon agreed to give another hair cut-a-thon as a benefit for the Friends of the Library.

A name change of the organization was recommended and passed by the group from Friends of the City-County Public Library System to Friends of the Hancock County Library System.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Ladner of Rt. 2, Pass Christian announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Marie, to James Douglas Kuhn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Michael Kuhn, Rt. 1, Pass Christian. The bride-elect, a Hancock North-Central School graduate, attended the University of Southern Mississippi.

The prospective groom, a graduate of Harrison Central High School, is presently stationed in Jacksonville, Fla., with the United States Navy.

The marriage will be solemnized at 2 p.m. June 10, at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Dedeaux.

A reception will follow at the Jordan River Shores Club House. Friends and relatives are invited.

MEMORIAL GARDENS CHAIRMAN - Mrs. Lynn Nybo, Bay-Waveland Garden Club, tends to petunia display in front of Hancock County Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis. In center of plot is Redwood tree. Other sections of garden flank library building's north and west facades.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fillingame married at candlelight ceremony

Miss Rhonda Lynn Arceneaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Arceneaux of Bay St. Louis, and Orville Wayne Fillingame, Glennallen, Alaska, were married in a candlelight ceremony April 8 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Rev. Morgan Kavanagh, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John McKenna, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza featuring a high neckline, bishop sleeves, fitted waistline and a cathedral length train flowing from the waist. Bands of Cluny lace trimmed the neckline, sleeves and deep founce at the hemline. The yoke was adorned with matching bands of lace with seed pearls forming a cameo. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of Cluny lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Mrs. Debbie Singletary of Bay St. Louis attended her sister as matron of honor, and Miss Peggy LaFontaine, also of Bay St. Louis, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Bilbo, Kiln, Miss. Mrs. Sheryl Cuebas, Gulfport, Mrs. Ellie Perniciaro, Bay St. Louis, and Miss Ellen Eagan, New Orleans. Candace Arceneaux, Bay St. Louis, niece of the bride, and Rachel Fillingame, Laurel, Miss., niece of the groom, were flower girls.

They wore chiffon dresses in rainbow colors trimmed with bands of Cluny lace around the empire waistlines; matching lace formed the tiered skirts and trimmed the chiffon capelets. The brides carried bouquets of pink and yellow roses and the flower girls carried baskets of roses.

The groom's best man was Mike McGinity of Bay St. Louis. Groomsmen were Mac Hadden, New Orleans; Drew Fillingame, Bay St. Louis, and Lee Fillingame, Laurel, Miss., brothers of the groom, Pat Murphy Jr., Bay St. Louis and Michael Reeves, New Orleans. Louis Arceneaux Jr., Donnie Tanguis, cousin of the bride, Richard Fillingame, brother of the groom, and Michael Larroux, all of Bay St. Louis, served as ushers. Ringbearers were Tray January and Skipper Tanguis, cousins of the bride, both of New Orleans.

Mrs. Arceneaux received guests wearing a floor length orchid color gown fashioned with a flowing capelet of matching chiffon. An orchid corsage completed her ensemble. Baskets of white gladioli, pink carnations and greenery decorated the DAV Hall in Bay St. Louis for the reception following the ceremony.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lace cloth edged with greenery was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with flowers in rainbow colors.

Missy Carter of Bay St. Louis presided at the guest register.

For her wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., the bride chose a gray gaucho suit with printed blouse and an orchid corsage.

The couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Tanguis, New Orleans, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wolfe, Denham Springs, La., Mr. and Mrs. John Danko, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tanguis II, New Orleans.

Drivers beware

Bay St. Louis police are cracking down on speeding. This is best illustrated by the number of tickets issued during March and April.

A total of 338 tickets were issued, according to chief Douglas Williams on Friday.

Now, we all wonder, why so many traffic citations. The simple answer is we all drive too fast.

The speed limit on the streets of Bay St. Louis is 25 miles per hour unless marked something else.

We suspect the best thing for us all to do is look at our speedometers more often to check our speeds.

We feel with the approach of summer, and our youth on the streets more with Little League ball and special activities, the police department is doing the right thing by enforcing the speed limits.

Please drive extra carefully in the playground areas.

Slow down and live, and let our kids live too.

SEWER BREAK REPAIRED - The sewer break at Dunbar and Ulman Ave. was completed by City of Bay St. Louis workers. Roger Srouse, utilities foreman, and City Hall are trying to figure the reason for this three and a half to four yards of concrete poured around a sewer service line. Srouse said the sewer main had 20 feet and two service lines replaced. The area had to be well pointed because of cave-ins and a water line through the area ruptured during the repair. STORM VICTIM - This giant oak in the yard of Earb Millsaps at the corner of Mars and St. Joseph Streets in Waveland fell victim to the high winds which accompanied the line of heavy thunderstorms which roared through Hancock county Wednesday. (Staff photo Edgar Perez)

BEACH WASHES AWAY - Huge gashes were slashed into the Hancock County beaches Wednesday by runoff from a record rainfall. Supervisor Sam Pernicaro said beach maintenance is vital for protection of Beach Boulevard. "Once the beach goes, the water will erode the road base and that will be the end of it," he said. reported.

The loss is especially devastating in light of his recent expenditure of some $20,000 to repair a burned-out bridge over Bayou LaCroix, the supervisor noted.

In addition, some 400 to 500 cubic yards of fill had to be replaced at various locations throughout his district, Kellar pointed out. He said some blacktop damages resulted from the excessive rains, as well as road washouts in many spots in his beat.

At about 6:15 p.m. Friday, April 28, Supervisor Oscar Peterson of Beat Three completed four new bridges in his district.

Five days later, all four structures were washed out by the Wednesday deluge.

Two of the damaged bridges are on the Necaise-Hanna Road, one on the Standard-Sand Hill Cemetery Road, and the fourth on the Arnold Ladner Road.

Peterson said his crews worked through Thursday and Friday with extra trucks repairing the weather-caused havoc to his district.

The Bernie Ray Saucier residence in Necaise Crossing was hit by lightning during the storm, but no injuries were reported, Peterson advised.

Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Superintendent J. D. McCullough said schools in the district came through the heavy weather unscathed.

Material blown off a walkway canopy at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore crashed through the window of an occupied classroom at that school early Wednesday.

Minor scratches from flying glass sustained by one of the pupils in the room was the only other storm-related injury reported in Hancock County.

Peter Platz, chief engineer for Coast Electric Power Association, said by 4 p.m. Wednesday all power knocked out in the storm had been restored.

Damages to the company's facilities were sustained primarily by lightning striking transformers and wind blowing tree limbs across power lines, Platz reported.

Some 500 Coast Electric customers in the Rocky Hill area were without electricity for an extended period after lightning struck a large transformer in that vicinity, the engineer said.

Platz said Coast Electric began to feel effects of the severe weather as early as 7 p.m. Tuesday night.

Crewmen were unable to reach isolated areas due to waters too high to wade through, Platz explained. Repairs were delayed in many instances until waters receded, he added.

F. M. Kyle Jr. of Gulfport, South Central Bell district manager for Hancock County, reported only "minor trouble and scattered outages" due to the Wednesday weather, a far cry from the New Orleans area where as many as 8,000 phones in one section and 3,000 in another were reported out of service due to flooding there.

problems from the storm also were the result of lightning and limbs across power lines, according to Perry Gibson, the company's Hancock County manager.

families referred to the Court; (6) a drug abuse prevention program now operated by the Mental Health Center; (7) a volunteer foster home program providing over 8,000 children-days last year; and (8) the largest program of volunteers for probationers in the state.

His wisdom, maturity, experience, and determination to find solutions to the difficult problems the community faces with today's youth has been recognized both nationally and locally. Judge Semski has served under two presidents as an advisor in the field of juvenile justice and delinquency prevention.

First appointed by President Ford in 1976, recently under President Carter he was made chairman of a national committee on standards for the field of juvenile justice. He serves on several similar committees for Mississippi.

Recognition from other judges includes his election to the presidency of the Mississippi Council of Juvenile Court Judges. He has taught Juvenile Justice at the Police Academy of Mississippi, Conference of District Attorneys and County Attorneys, the junior colleges, and local police departments.

In his formal statement, Judge Semski said, "As a citizen I am concerned with the alarming crime rate. As the father of five teenagers, I share the anxiety of all parents who know that there are no guarantees that our children might not get into trouble."

"As judge of the Family Court, I pledge to you that I will use every resource at my command to continue to reduce the recidivism rate of delinquents."

"I further pledge to be fair and impartial to every youth and every parent, to explore every reasonable alternative and make decisions based on the safety of the community and the rehabilitation of the child. When the training school is needed, I have never hesitated to use it."

He and his wife Kay Pringle Semski are natives of Biloxi.

During March and April, Bay police answered 666 calls, some on just about everything, according to Williams.

"Our department was called for accidents, robbery, auto theft, alarms accidentally set off, assaults, deaths, fires, drunks, mental cases, drug violations, dogs, to help unlock cars, and even picking people up from their floors and helping them back to bed," Williams reported.

The police chief put emphasis on the fact that it is his department's job to answer all types of calls. He wants to make Bay St. Louis a safe place for its citizens and visitors.

The Bay Police Department is now undergoing training in all phases of police work. Williams is putting his force through as many schools as are available.

Williams closed by saying, "If any resident sees anything suspicious in their neighborhood, don't hesitate to dial 467-3221. If someone is soliciting, selling books or bibles, or anything unusual, don't let them in your home, and call the police department immediately. The cooperation of the citizens helps us to perform our duties."

distance available at both locations and adequate gaps are available in through traffic on US-90 to allow a left turn movement without difficulty or delay.

"For these reasons we do not recommend the addition of protected left turn indications on US-90 at the intersections with Miss. 43 and Waveland Ave.

Earlier the memorandum had stated, "A turning movement count was made at both locations and they indicated that only a minimal volume of traffic on US-90 made a left turn at either location. Not only are the protected left turn indications not warranted, but also the signal installations themselves. The minimum volume warrants stated in the 'Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices' are met for only one hour at Waveland Ave and no hours at the Miss. 43 intersection. This is even taking into consideration a 30 percent reduction in the traffic volume warrants due to the 85th percentile speeds on US-90 being greater than 40 mph."

Mitchell said local statistics paint a very different picture. He said also that his assumption is the Moseley memorandum refers to the more commonly described US-90 and Highway 603-Nicholson intersection, rather than the 43 highway reference.

He said that in 1975, according to figures supplied him by various law enforcement agencies, there were 18 accidents involving 23 injuries on the local stretch of US-90, 18 accidents and 29 injuries in 1976; 38 accidents, 45 injuries, 1 fatality in 1977; with 10 accidents and six injuries so far this year - with the heavy traffic season still ahead.

He said that people traversing either intersection are constantly complaining about the traffic lights, their location in relation to the intersections, the lack of left hand turn indicators, and their involvement in innumerable 'near misses.'

The grand jury report referred to by both Mitchell and Moseley, states it had written letters concerning the lights and lack of flow indicators at the two intersections.

The letter, dated Jan. 17, 1977, was signed by Milton S. Lafontaine, Grand Jury Foreman. It read, "The Hancock County Grand Jury which is now in session is questioning the location and safety of the highway traffic signals located at the intersection of Highway 90 and Waveland Avenue. Signal No. 73-11-542-23-045. A vehicle can approach this light and be directly in middle of the cross road without passing the light. Also approaching Highway 90 from the North at this intersection a motorist can see two indications red and green."

"Also, at the intersection of Highway 90 and 603 there is a dire need of a left turn signal. School buses use this intersection and the lack of a left turn signal makes it hazardous to all motorists."

"We the Grand Jury, recommend that you investigate and correct the above mentioned conditions."

The final paragraph of the Moseley memorandum did state, "In regard to the comments made by the Grand Jury concerning the condition that a motorist southbound on Waveland Avenue can see both a red and green indication, we have instructed our signal crew to install tunnel visors on the signal heads for eastbound traffic on US-90. This should eliminate the condition in question."

Mitchell indicated the situation was still far from satisfactory and charged his petition would contain complete facts concerning the indiscretions of signal placement and their instructional indication to motorists.

Corps plan...

Outlining the need for the proposed dock and anchorage improvements, the Corps states:

"Cadet Bayou is located within easy access to Mississippi's oyster beds (about five miles) and Louisiana's Lake Borgne fishing grounds (about 15 miles). However, it's highly desirable location is offset by several factors. The channel at the mouth of the bayou shoals rapidly after maintenance dredging and the existing docking and anchorage facilities are inadequate for the permanently based commercial fishing boats. This causes congestion at the public docking facility with subsequent delays in unloading, damages, and the creation of fire hazards from the practice of rafting (tied abreast). These conditions serve to restrict the usage of the port."

"During the peak of shrimping season in early summer, the demand for ice and unloading facilities cannot be accommodated by the existing facilities at Cadet Bayou. Due to limited docking and unloading area available in Cadet Bayou fishermen go to other ports, such as Gulfport or Biloxi, to unload, refuel and get ice since they can expect a faster turn around time."

"The littoral currents in the Cadet Bayou area flow in a westerly direction and move suspended materials along the coast as evidenced by the fillets on the eastern side of jetties at Buccaneer State Park and other littoral blocks along the shoreline. The material settles in the channel beyond the influence of the small tidal current from the bayou forming a bar. At times during winter, north winds depress water levels such that inadequate depths prevent vessels from entering or exiting the bayou."

"During the shrimping season the vessels normally leave during the late afternoon or early evening for overnight fishing trips. Delays occur when the boats' crews are ready for departure but the boat is confined within the cluster of vessels tied to the dock. Since crews refrain from operating each other's vessels, they are delayed until the other vessels leave or the crew can extricate their vessels manually. The former is usually the case as currents make it hazardous to allow boats to drift while a boat is getting out. When returning the next morning the process works in reverse. The last boats to tie up have to carry their catch across the decks of the boats tied closer to the dock which is dangerous, time consuming and strains relations between the crews. Similar circumstances occur during the oyster season."

"The practice of rafting is unavoidable since docking space (private and public) is limited to about 800 linear feet or frontage for about 20 of the permanently based boats. Although all 40 permanent boats are not often in port at the same time, transient vessels more than compensate for their absence. It is not unusual to find vessels four abreast at the public facilities. Tying vessels together in this fashion provides no protection from fire and causes damage to the vessels as the rub against each other as the result of wave action either natural or induced by other vessels. Near the location of the public dock, vessels actually protrude into the federal channel when rafted with four or more abreast."

"Storms which produce large surge in the sound have been known to cut off road access to the port area. The coast road is the only road into the bayou area and is only a couple of feet above sea level."

"An apparent trend towards the use of larger double tiggered shrimp trawlers along the Gulf Coast has led local interests to express a desire to deepen the existing federal project to 12 feet and to reduce the shoaling rate by construction of a jetty. The addition of an anchorage basin has also been requested to reduce congestion at the existing docks and to provide area for additional unloading and other port facilities."

"Access to the anchorage basin other than by the coast road is preferred."

The report states that the selected plan provides for approximately a 200 by 1300 by eight foot anchoring basin connecting with the existing eight foot deep channel. The existing project dimensions will not be affected by the addition of the basin which will tie into the bayou channel.

The eight foot depth was chosen, the report states, to be consistent with the existing federal project channel depth.

"The eight foot depth will accommodate vessels using the basin having maximum loaded drafts of six feet and provide allowances the vessel squat (0.5 foot), abnormally low tides (1.0 foot), and keel clearance (0.5 foot). The basin will accommodate approximately 50 vessels."

Benefits cited available from the intended project, originally requested by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, include reduction of delays that result from congestion at the mouth of the bayou, the elimination of vessel damages that occur as a result of the congestion, reduced operating costs for transient fishing vessels and increased harbor of refuge benefits.

Letters to the editor

Mental illness

Editor
Sea Coast Echo.

Dear Sir:

Today we know that mental illness can be prevented in many cases. We can do this through education, especially of parents, and by learning to cope with stress. There is a group of citizens trying to see that this happens - The Mental Health Association.

During May, Mental Health Month, your neighbor will be coming to your door to collect for mental health. I urge you to give generously.

The Mental Health Assoc. needs your support because:

1. Mental illness can be cured.
2. The cycle of child abuse can be stopped.
3. Education of parents can prevent some emotional problems of children.
4. The mentally ill need a strong advocate.

Your support is needed to accomplish this.

Very truly yours

White Cypress by Yvonne Ladner

255-1403

The congregation of the Infant of Prague Catholic Church at White Cypress will make the move to their new Church Complex at 11:30 a.m. Sunday. The move will be accomplished with a motorcade of all parishioners carrying articles from the old building to the new one and will be climaxed with Benediction and the Crowning of Mary.

Cory Matthew Spiers was baptized into the Church 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, April 30. Cory is the son of Jeanne and Marvin Spiers. His sponsors are Deanne Cuevas and Raphael Nécasse.

We would like to extend birthday wishes to everyone who is celebrating this week. Especially to Morgan Ladner, Lynell Ladner and Sheila Lavinhouse.

The Nécasse Crossing 4-H Club will sponsor a Rummage Sale Saturday, May 13, at Hancock Bank on Highway 90.

In Bay St. Louis, The Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Viretta Ladner on Thursday, May 4. They are getting ready for the County Contests which are to be held on May 20th.

The Shiloh Baptist Church Choir will be going to Laurel for a contest for singing groups.

Get well wishes are extended to all the sick of the area. These include Charlie Spiers, Christopher Martin and Adele Ladner.

POULTRY WEEK - Governor Cliff Finch has designated May 7-14 as Poultry and Egg Week in Mississippi. Present to witness signing of proclamation to mark event are: Joseph E. Shipp, president, Mississippi Poultry Association, left, and Dr. R.L. Haynes, leader, Poultry Department, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

PREPLANT SOYBEAN HERBICIDES

Basaline, Cobex, Prowl, Tolban or Treflan may be applied and incorporated until just before soybean planting. Advance incorporation of one of these herbicides eliminates an operation that might interfere with planting. It can also reduce early weed infestations that require repeated tillage and thereby help conserve seedbed moisture.

Apply herbicides during periods of little or no wind and to a well-prepared soil. Large soil clods and wet soils that do not permit adequate mixing can result in poor weed control.

HERBICIDE SAFETY

Herbicides are important for maximum crop production, but improper use can have tragic consequences. Most herbicide poisonings happen when these materials are accidentally drunk or eaten. Herbicides may also be harmful or fatal if absorbed through the skin or if their fumes are breathed.

You should store herbicides out of reach of children and in their original containers. Transferring any toxic material to an unmarked or incorrectly labeled container increases the chances of misuse. Read the label and heed all warnings.

THIN GARDEN PLANTS

You need to thin your plants to get the best production from your garden. If you let every sprouting seed grow, it's likely that the plants won't grow to their full potential. To prevent this, determine the space needed between plants for best growth. Then, with a hoe or your fingers, remove the smaller plants between the plants you select to leave.

Plants thinned from such crops as lettuce, beets, spinach and greens make good early eating. For more information on garden management, ask your County Extension Agent for a copy of the 1978 Home Gardening Tabloid.

FARMWEEK

If you produce soybeans, make a special effort to watch "Farmweek" this coming Monday night at 7:30 p.m. on your local Educational Television channel. An in-depth panel discussion on the state's number one crop will be presented, including recommended production practices, weed control and marketing approaches.

Joining Farmweek host Bruce Johnson will be Extension Weed Specialist Wayne Houston, and Extension Economist Bob Williams. Watch Farmweek every Monday at 7:30 p.m. on ETV for the latest in agricultural news, markets and weather.

GRAZING
MANAGEMENT: The sorghum-sudan hybrids should not be grazed until plants are at least 20 inches tall. It is best to let millet get about 18 inches growth before grazing, but it can be grazed anytime it is needed with no problems.

Grazing first planting until second is ready. First planting can then be clipped to 8 inch high stubble and top-dressed with nitrogen. Grazing or clipping too close can severely reduce amount of regrowth. Never allow these crops, especially sorghum-sudan hybrids, to produce seedheads as quality of the forage is greatly reduced as it matures.

Dairy cattle can be grazed 2 hours in the morning and 2 hours in the afternoon. If cows are allowed overnight grazing, planted acreage must be increased. Steers or replacement heifers can be grazed one-half day and then moved to permanent pasture if they are being grown out.

Steers being finished will need full-time grazing along with a grain supplement. It takes one-third to one-half additional acres of grazing when cattle are left on pastures full-time. Rotational grazing will increase forage produced as it does on all pastures. Where these crops are being harvested for hay, they should be cut in the earlyboot stage of growth.

Summer, temporary pastures are expensive to produce, so a good job of seedbed preparation, seeding, fertilization and grazing management is necessary. To justify the costs of growing these crops, usually the class of live stock grazed must be producing income or being grazed to increase the value of these animals.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEED ENDING: APRIL 1978

RELEASED: MAY 1, 1978

WEATHER SUMMARY

(National Weather Service): The week was relatively cold with temperatures averaging three to nine degrees below normal. Most of the rain fell at the beginning of the week but began again as the week ended. Amounts were about 6-10 of the normal weekly rainfall. The lowest temperature was 34 degrees at Oxford on the 27th and the highest was 87 at several locations. Rainfall began in the northwest late Saturday and by Monday morning amounts up to five inches or more had been measured in some northern locations.

CROP SUMMARY: Farmers made rapid progress in planting a variety of crops during the week. Other fieldwork included land preparation, applying fertilizer and herbicide, and hay harvesting.

Soil moisture supplies were generally adequate. An average of 5.0 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 4.1 days last week and 4.7 days for the same week last year.

Cotton was 45 percent planted, compared to 35 percent last year and 34 percent average. About 5 percent was up to a stand compared to 12 percent last year and eight percent average.

Rice was about 88 percent planted, compared to 75 percent last year and 56 percent average. About 36 percent of the rice acreage was up to a stand compared to 37 percent last year.

Corn planting was 73 percent completed, compared to 72 percent last year and 47 percent average. About 50 percent of the corn acreage was up to a stand compared to 46 percent last year. The crop was in good to fair condition.

Winter wheat was 67 percent headed compared to 88 percent last year and five percent of the acreage was ripe. The oats acreage was 68 percent headed compared to 88 percent last year and 8 percent of the acreage was ripe. The crop was in good to fair condition.

Soybeans were three percent planted, the same as last year. Sorghums were four percent planted compared to nine percent last year and eight percent average.

Peanuts were 27 percent planted compared to 30 percent last year. Sweet potatoes were 8 percent planted compared to 10 percent last year and 11 percent average. Pastures were in good to fair condition. Peaches were in mostly good condition.

COMMENTS

QUITMAN CO. "Cool temperatures are causing problems with cotton emergence. Some replanting is expected - warm temperatures are needed. Soybean land preparation nearing completion.

BENTON CO. "Rain held up planting until Wednesday. Farmers then started in full swing."

LEE CO. "Everything is in full swing with land preparation for soybeans staying well ahead of schedule, and some cotton being planted. Most corn acreage has been planted and is up to a stand."

CHOCTAW CO. "We need a good general rain." JEFF DAVIS CO. "Most crops doing well. Cooler weather is holding back cucumbers and watermelons."

Wheat, feed grain, cotton program deadline extended

ASCS REPORTS

Pearl River - Hancock Counties farmers have been given an additional two weeks to sign up for the 1978 wheat, feed grain and cotton programs. Franklin A. Gennin, County Executive Director of the Pearl River - Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee, reported.

The May 1 deadline has been extended through May 15, 1978.

"The additional time should be helpful to farmers whose busy schedules may have prevented them from visiting the county office, and also to those who may still be undecided about participating," Gennin said.

He explained that there is no penalty if set-aside participants decide not to plant a program crop such as wheat, corn or grain sorghum, and that they should sign up to assure themselves of program benefits.

ASCS Hancock-Pearl River

Farmers who sign up will be eligible for price support loans, target price and disaster payments for corn, grain, sorghum, rice upland cotton, and wheat on the participating farm, and eligible for loans on any other normal crop acreage grown on the farm.

Farmers must also sign up by May 15 to qualify for corn, grain sorghum, and upland cotton voluntary diversion payment.

Gennin said that Secretary Bergland extended the sign-up period because of late changes made in the program, such as voluntary diversion of cotton and feed grain acreage for payment, and also wheat grazing and hay payments.

For more information on the 1978 farm programs, contact the local ASCS office, Poplarville, Mississippi or phone 795-4932.

CHECK STORAGE FACTS

Farmers are reminded to check their available storage space to make sure it's adequate for this year's crop.

"If a farmer does not have enough storage space for his grain on the farm, he should take steps now to obtain the additional storage," Gennin said.

Gennin said that country elevators and terminal warehouses are already overloaded. "Farmers can help solve this problem by arranging to store a portion of their grain on the farm."

Financial assistance to erect storage facilities on the farm can be obtained through the Farm Storage and Drying Equipment Loan Program.

"Under this program, farmers can obtain Commodity Credit Corporation loans to expand their storage space," Gennin said.

The program also includes loans for wet storage structures.

Loans can be obtained on up to 85 percent of the cost of storage. Costs can include concrete, wiring and foundations.

By providing storage on his own farm, a farmer can be sure he has a place for his crop. Another advantage of farm storage is that the commodity can be made available for marketing in a relatively short time.

For more information on the farm facility loan program, contact the Pearl River - Hancock County ASCS office or an ASC committee member.

Applicants for all ASCS programs will be given equal consideration without regard to race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

State Weather Projection

Mississippi's May agricultural weather outlook calls for near normal temperatures, with normal maximum readings ranging from near 80 at the beginning of the month to the mid-to-upper-80's by the 31st.

Lowest temperatures will range from the upper-50's to mid-60's, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

After farmers recover from heavy thunderstorms at the beginning of May, rainfall should be near normal for the rest of the month. Additional amounts may range from 4 to 4.5 inches. Weather experts say weed and grass control efforts should have better weather conditions after the first week of May.

Wet soils may delay planting and replanting until the second week in May. Seedbed temperatures should be at favorable germination levels by the time planting is possible, say, agro-meteorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville, who prepare the forecasts. Near normal temperatures will allow soils to continue to warm above germination thresholds.

Hay and small grain harvests should begin statewide without many interruptions, say the weather experts.

BIRDS IN THE HOME

Before recent laws restricting importation of parakeets, canaries and other foreign finches, these small birds were among the pets most commonly offered for sale. They are somewhat harder to obtain now, but just as popular.

Let's review some of the factors that constitute good bird care.

Before you buy a bird, consider its home — the cage. The cage size you need will obviously depend upon the type of bird you want. It should be big enough to allow the bird to jump and hop around, with perches of different diameters on different levels.

A rough-surfaced perch or two will help keep the bird's nails short and scrape mineral deposits from the feet. Plan to put the cage in a draft-free spot that receives bright light rather than direct sun.

A caged bird is completely dependent upon you and will need a regular supply of clean water and fresh seed. The smaller birds do well with most packaged seed mixtures supplemented by pieces of apple, spinach or lettuce one a week.

Parrots and other larger birds require a diet of cracked oats and corn, millet and other whole seeds, with some fresh fruit or vegetables.

Birds only eat as much as they need so you can keep several days' seed in the cage. Don't make the mistake of thinking that the seed cup is full of seeds when it contains only empty hulls.

If you blow gently into the feeder, hulls will usually float away and let you see how much seed is left.

Birds have other dietary needs too. They do not have teeth and need fine gravel or grit to aid in grinding seed in the gizzard, a special part of the digestive tract.

Since most seed mixtures are deficient in calcium, you should also put a whole cuttlefish bone in the cage or add finely crushed oyster shell to the seed.

If you wish to breed your pet or "produce" and exceptional singer, your veterinarian may suggest special food supplements.

Finally, if your pet is not up to par, do not hesitate to seek professional attention. A veterinarian equipped with the special operating instruments and specially formulated drugs is the best person to treat a sick bird.

The bird's size and specialized anatomy make it difficult to try to treat it with medicines prepared for humans or other pets.

If you have never owned a bird before, here are some early distress signals to watch for: prolonged molting or ruffled feathers; general listlessness; wheezing or heavy breathing; development of enlargements or growths; and changes in the character of the droppings. All are signs that your bird is ill and needs professional veterinary attention.

The
Ole Pastor Says

GOD GAVE TO MOTHERS a measure of love and devotion far beyond all others. Her tenderness, patience and understanding is unique in itself.

How appropriate and meaningful the words of John 19:25-27: "Now there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, . . ."

Standing by her son, unmoved by the threat of circumstances, the mother of Jesus manifestly demonstrates God's gift of profound devotion to us all. The modern challenge of motherhood is the eternal challenge. There is no challenge to it! She is God's special instrument to shape the destiny of us all. What a trust! God placed each of us in mother's hand and care first. For this cause God intended that she be a GODLY WOMAN!

We hear about every kind of women, beautiful women, sophisticated women, talented women, divorced women, and even women's libbers, but seldom do we hear of godly women — or godly men either, for that matter. If there were more godly men and godly fathers, there would be more godly women and godly mothers!

Although the average American mother has advantages that pioneer women never knew — material advantages, education, culture, advances made by science and medicine, although the modern mother knows a great deal more about sterilization, abortion, diet, health, calories, drugs, medicines, and vitamins, than did her mother, there is obviously one important subject about which she knows less about . . . and that is God and His inspired Word!

The world has enough women who are "popular." It now needs more who are pure. We need WOMEN AND MOTHERS. . . AND MEN AND FATHERS too, who would rather be morally right than socially correct. It is godly mothers who write on the hearts of their children what the world's imposing and impetuous hands cannot erase.

City schools pre-register first graders

North Bay Elementary and Waveland Elementary schools will hold pre-registrations for students entering the first grade in the Fall of 1978.

Registration will be 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, May 12 at Waveland Elementary, and 8:30 a.m. - 3 p.m. at North Bay Elementary.

Pre-registration helps schools to plan for next year's student load.

A student must reach the age of six on or before Nov. 1, to qualify. Parents must have a copy of the child's birth certificate and immunization records.

Wendell Ladner honored in USM Sports Hall of Fame

By SHARON WALLS
Wendell Ladner, USM's first and only basketball player to reach the major leagues, was inducted into the University of Southern Mississippi's Sports Hall of Fame Saturday, April 29, at the University.

Ladner's brother, Berlin, also an outstanding player for USM, accepted the award for the pro who was killed in the crash of a 727 jetliner which took the lives of 110 of 123 passengers June 24, 1975. The 14th annual Sports Hall of Fame and Awards Banquet in J. B. George Commons culminated M Club Alumni activities of the weekend, featuring the Black and Gold intrasquad football game.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ladner of Nacaise Crossing, Ladner set and broke every scoring record at Hancock North Central during his prep career. "I called Wendell the 110 percent player," wrote Roland Ladner, who coached the budding star in his last three years in high school basketball. "He worked every minute in practice as if it were a big game. He was as physical as any boy I have ever seen on a basketball court."

Although offered scholarships to many universities, including LSU and Ole Miss, Ladner signed with USM in 1966. During his three-year varsity career he shattered the college's all-time career rebounding record with 1,256 rebounds while averaging 16.5 per game. He was the Golden Eagles' (then called the Colonels) scoring leader throughout his varsity career hitting at 20.5 points a game, and ranks fourth on their all-time scoring list with 1,561 points. Among those playing only three seasons, he is the all-time leader.

Ladner was listed among the top 25 pro prospects by "The Sporting News" in 1970 and was Babe McCarthy's No. 2 draft choice for the Louisiana Buccaneers. The 6'5", 220 pound forward played first season with the Bucs in their new form as the Memphis Pros in 1970. In 300 regular season games with Memphis, the Carolina Cougars, the Kentucky Colonels and the champion New York Nets of the now defunct American Basketball Association, he averaged 8.2 rebounds and 11.6 points. In 40 play-offs he scored 4.3 points and took 7.6 rebounds. He was selected to play in the all-star games in his first two years in the pros.

Popular with fans for his dynamic style, Ladner was noted for all-out hustle and drive. He also drew his share of feminine admirers as sales from a poster of Ladner dressed in only in basketball shorts attested.

Five other outstanding USM graduates were inducted with Ladner, including former All-American footballer Ry Guy who was named All-Pro for five years consecutively as an Oakland Raider with the National Football League. Baseball star Frank Baker, who played in the pros with New York and Baltimore's American League teams, and football letterman Richard Johnston and Reese Snell rounded out the list of athletes. Former golf coach B. O. Van Hook, who coached on a voluntary basis for 19 years was also honored.

LADY EAGLE RACKETS

The University of Southern Mississippi women's tennis team ended its season with a 5-5 record in dual matches and two fourth place finishes in tournaments. Wins over Okaloosa Walton, Chattahoochee Valley, Spring Hill and two victories over Mississippi College highlighted the season. In tournament play the Lady Eagles finished fourth in the USM Invitational and fourth in the Mississippi Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament at Mississippi State.

Rock coach sets batting clinic

Fred Weems, head baseball coach of the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws, will conduct his third annual batting school hitting psychology. A curve ball pitching machine will be used during practice sessions.

In the past two years, more than 100 boys have attended the clinics. Former students are encouraged to return.

Most valuable player on the William Carey College baseball team in 1960, Weems has coached the team for 21 years at all levels of competition. He coached at the collegiate level for five years and was named as the 1972 Alabama Collegiate Conference Coach of the year.

Weems, who has a doctorate in physical education, is the author of 20 instructional articles published in national coaching magazines.

"I will be glad to answer parent's questions," added Weems. For further information, parents can call the coach at 467-7372 after school.

Environmental
bass tourney set for May

The first environmental bass tournament to be held in Mississippi, which requires teams of fishermen to pick up a container of man-made trash in the course of a bass fishing day, is set for May 20th at Grenada Lake.

High score points in the contest will be awarded for fish brought in alive. As scores are recorded the fish will be returned to the water, but without a bag of litter from the lake area a competing team will be disqualified and will forfeit its entry fee.

Trophy and cash awards, including a top prize of $1,000 cash, will be given for highest point totals.

Final check in and starting time will be from 5 to 6:30 a.m. Saturday, May 20, at Grenada Landing.

To enter the tourney a two-man team should send names and addresses along with a $50 entry fee to the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, P.O. Box 18114, Jackson, Miss. 39218.

SHEALY SIDELINED
Alabama-Crimson Tide quarterback Steadman Shealy, who Bear Bryant claims has the potential of another Kenny Stabler, was sidelined for much of spring practice with a knee injury. Shealy is one of several Bama starters sitting out practice because of injuries. Bryant commented that the 1978-79 season hinges on the recovery of these key players. The annual spring intra-squad game April 22 ended in a 7-7 tie.

Racing greats take green flag for Winston 500

Defending Winston 500 champion Darrell Waltrip will face stiff competition as the ninth annual Winston 500 NASCAR stock car race revs up today at the Alabama International Speedway in Talladega.

Waltrip, in a Chevrolet, faces such immortals as NASCAR's all-time money winner Richard Petty in a Dodge, four-time Indy 500 champ A. J. Foyt in a Buick, three-time Winston 500 winner David Pearson in a Mercury, Daytona 500 winner Bobby Allison in a Ford Thunderbird, and defending Winston Cup champ Cale Yarborough in an Oldsmobile for the $252,775 purse.

The Talladega 2.66 mile trioval, considered the fastest course on the circuit, holds the all-time 500 mile speed record of 169.887 mph, set by Buddy Baker in the Winston 500 in 1976. Talladega also holds the world record for lead changes in auto racing. There were 64 among 15 drivers in the 1973 Talladega 500 and last year's Winston 500 field almost matched that mark with 62 lead changes among 11 drivers.

Forty cars out of 59 entries will take the green flag at 1 p.m. today in the 188-lap race.

RESEARCH STUDY

Automotive researchers may have found a practical solution to reducing one of the most costly and common types of traffic accidents - the rear-end collision which accounts for nearly 3 million accidents annually. Recently completed research under a contract awarded by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) indicates that this type of accident was reduced by 64 percent in a test group of Washington, D.C. taxicabs. The cabs were experimentally equipped with brake lights mounted above the vehicle's trunk just beneath the centerline of the rear window. In addition, they were equipped with conventional brake lights.

Hancock Scouting reservation to conduct five week program

Hancock County Boy Scouts of the New Orleans Area Council will be eligible to attend the council's two summer camps which open for five weeks on Sunday, June 18.

Both facilities, the Salmen Scout Reservation in Hancock County near Sellers, and Camp Salmen on US-190 northwest of Slidell, La., will be closed during the July 4th week. The Salmen Scout Reservation, located in Hancock County about 20 miles east of Picayune, has 1,500 acres of pine-topped rolling hills.

Here, Scouts will do wilderness camping, sleep in 2-man tents, in well spaced patrol areas. Patrol boxes, cooking gear, dining flies and Patrol tables will be provided.

Each patrol will check out its food and cook it on a charcoal stove. Wildlife is everywhere.

Outstanding features of this camp are its truly wilderness setting, many hiking trails and 85-acre lake. This camp has facilities for 300 Scouts in 10 campsites.

Special emphasis is placed on well trained staffs, according to Bob Whitaker, director at the reservation, and Bill Prat, director at Camp Salmen.

Special attention is given to all boys working on outdoor merit badges, they said.

Family night is each Sunday. Parents may visit and see Scouting in action this summer. There's a way for every Scout to go to Camp. Scoutmasters can tell you when his troop is going.

Contact the Scout Service Center, 504-337-0780, for additional information.

Outstanding features of Camp Salmen are its swimming pool and waterfront program. Its large supply of equipment and facilities for camping, a large well equipped dining hall, plus special meals cooked out by patrols each week, give a well balanced program to fit the needs of all scout troops.

This camp is especially suited for a new Troop's first camp experience.
